

What To Do With Your Hair
comedy sketch idea

A comedic take on the idea of a sort of forced co-existence between Trump and SNL, achieved through Trump suppressing his feelings and resigning himself to his assigned role, playing Rapunzel in a comedy sketch that seems designed to make him as ridiculous as possible. As the sketch proceeds it appears that Trump is deliberately being pushed to the furthest limits of being made to seem ridiculous, yet by the end he's totally getting into it, as are the rest of the sketch's cast, all losing themselves in it.
